

Adventure 3

The seal on the mysterious hatch has just been broken, weeks ago some imperial explorers found a massive metal on the forest floor. A few of mage superiors researchers, a few guards, captain artial, the party and mage superior herself are present when the arcane locks and wards are disabled. The door, creaking under ancient pneumatic machinery, opens to reveal a staircase leading into a black abys. It is decided that the party will venture into the depths of this facility and understand its purpose and anything that can be found. Before they can make their decent captain artial is snatched up by a hand that comes from beyond the staircase. Mage superior, enraged by her capture, joins the party in the recovery of captain artial

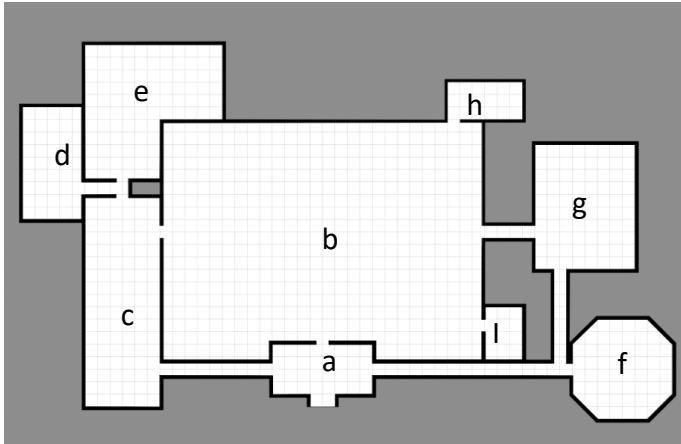

This is an ancient research facility dedicated to understanding the [great big tree] and its influence on the forest. Created by old orc civilization to

The tree is a source of raw magical power, it is a point at which the lines of each plane grow thin, allowing all planes to be connected in one space. This allows the tree to act as a gateway to and from every plane in this universes system as well as a conduit of the power that system holds. This power floats down with the trees pollen and coats the forest with a thick film of arcana.

Amorphous. The pudding can move through a space as narrow as 1 inch wide without squeezing.

Corrosive Form. A creature that touches the pudding or hits it with a melee attack while within 5 feet of it takes 4 (1d8) acid damage. Any nonmagical weapon made of metal or wood that hits the pudding corrodes. After dealing damage, the weapon takes a permanent and cumulative -1 penalty to damage rolls. If its penalty drops to -5, the weapon is destroyed. Nonmagical ammunition made of metal or wood that hits the pudding is destroyed after dealing damage.

The pudding can eat through 2-inch-thick, nonmagical wood or metal in 1 round.

Spider Climb. The pudding can climb difficult surfaces, including upside down on ceilings, without needing to make an ability check.

ACTIONS

Pseudopod. Melee Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, reach 5 ft., one target. Hit: 6 (1d6 + 3) bludgeoning damage plus 18 (4d8) acid damage. In addition, nonmagical armor worn by the target is partly dissolved and takes a permanent and cumulative -1 penalty to the AC it offers. The armor is destroyed if the penalty reduces its AC to 10.

REACTIONS

Split. When a pudding that is Medium or larger is subjected to lightning or slashing damage, it splits into two new puddings if it has at least 10 hit points. Each new pudding has hit points equal to half the original pudding's, rounded down. New puddings are one size smaller than the original pudding.

Each creature within 20 feet of it must succeed on a DC 15 Constitution saving throw or take 10 (3d6) poison damage and become infected with a disease on a failed save. Creatures immune to the poisoned condition are immune to this disease. Spores invade an infected creature's system, killing the creature in a number of hours equal to 1d12 + the creature's Constitution score, unless the disease is removed. In half that time, the creature becomes poisoned for the rest of the duration. After the creature dies, it sprouts 2d4 Tiny gas spores that grow to full size in 7 days.
